

Public and administrative law has a significant impact on most areas of life, including business, financial and industrial activity in Israel, inter alia, by allocating state resources through public tenders or exemption from tender

The Tenders Law department at Salomon Lipschutz & Co., run by Adv. Amit Gur has rich and varied experience in representing and advising both entities and individuals from the private sector and government and municipal entities (such as local authorities and government companies).

The legal team of the Tenders department holds special expertise and extensive experience in providing legal advice and representing clients in connection with complex and complicated tenders on a huge scale, as published by governmental bodies and authorities as well as municipal bodies and private parties.

We also hold special expertise and extensive experience in legal advice and representing clients in connection with complex and complicated tenders on a huge scale, which are published both by bodies and authorities and municipal and municipal bodies and by private parties.

Among other, we handle are various tenders in the field of public transportation for the operation of public transportation lines for buses and taxis (including centers published by the Ministry of Transportation as part of the government's plan to privatize the public transportation industry in Israel). Such as tenders for operating quarries, paving roads and establishing railway infrastructure, tenders published by the Israel Lands Administration in the field of real estate, as well as tenders for the purchase of equipment and services.

Furthermore, the legal team has accumulated extensive professional experience and knowledge in submitting and managing administrative petitions for cancellation of tenders, stopping tender procedures, changing the terms of the tender and revoking the decisions of the relevant authority or body regarding the winner or disqualification of bidders. The department has accumulated rich experience in advising government and municipal entities, as well as private sector entities, on all matters related to tenders published by them (including tenders conducted through the use of the Internet), including advising tender committees, drafting tender documents and conducting tender procedures.
